Some may wonder why water notices are being sent out to residents after the Village has invested so much money in the AOP water treatment at our Village wells. Our annual water report and the February and October 2024 EAB presentations on water quality in the Village demonstrate the success of this investment. As I said at the last BOT meeting, I credit prior Village trustees for quickly acting upon learning of emerging contaminants and the lowering of allowable limits due to health concerns.

As Mr. Stan Carey stated at the January 16, 2025 meeting, “The Village of Garden City is ahead of most other water suppliers. We’ve invested over $50 million to meet all the newly promulgated drinking water standards. It was a very, very heavy lift for Village staff to get these online. At the present time I am happy to say all our water meets or exceeds drinking water standards.”

So why are so many residents getting alarming notices about lead in drinking water? The issue facing residents now is what happens to the water after it leaves the Village water main in the street and travels through the service line to your home. Those service lines are the responsibility of the homeowner, and the service lines are for the most part on residents’ property.

Over the last few years, it has become clear that the Village has many homes with aging lead service lines. A lead service line inventory is now available on our Village website and this inventory identifies homes with lead service lines as well as homes with service lines within the Village with unknown material.

The Village continues to provide free lead testing, and this testing is now being handled by Village staff rather than by our water consultants. To get your free lead test please pick up the bottles and instructions at Village Hall on the second floor. The Village continues to waive road opening permit fees for lead service line replacements.

Hopefully, this answers some questions resident have about our Village water. Please visit the Water Department page on our website for more information.
